BRITISH CAPTURE JERUSALEM!

By Gen. Allenby Forces of British, French and Italian Troops. Turkish Rule Ended at Last.

Jerusalem, the Holy City, is now in the hands of the British, after having been under the Moslem control for twelve hundred years.

Gen. Allenby, with his British, French and Italian forces, has been gradually closing in on the Holy City since the taking of Joffe on the Mediterranean, and the capture was not a complete surprise. The attack was made so that the historical and sacred places were saved from destruction.

BLIZZARD THE WORST IN YEARS

Heavy Snow Storm Began Falling Here Friday Night. Thermometer Dropped Forty Degrees. Traffic Delayed.

Since last Friday night when the thermometer dropped about 40 degrees, Cloverporters have been experiencing a bit of real winter. With the exception of one Sunday, in February 1916, Saturday was perhaps the worst blizzard ever experienced here for many years.

The heavy snow storm, which seems to have prevailed all over this section of the country, began falling here at seven o'clock Friday night and by Saturday morning the town was "a universe of sky and snow." It is estimated the snow fell to the depth of sixteen inches, heavier in some places, the wind had made huge banks of snow that were impossible and pedestrians were forced to take the middle of the road.

All of the trains have been delayed between four and five hours, one train, No. 142, due here at 9:15 a. m., did not arrive until 3:40 Saturday afternoon.

Sunday morning, the thermometer registered four degrees below zero. That afternoon the north wind blew terrifically accompanied by another snow storm lasting several hours.

Hanging Too Good.

Ever since Congress of the United States passed a law making it an offense for anyone to give or sell liquor to an American soldier or sailor, an active propaganda has been waged from the Cincinnati headquarters of the liquor interests against the law. Each week literature is sent broadcast over the country containing the worn-out arguments that liquor is furnished the French and British soldiers, and therefore the American troops should not be slighted.

The conservative Chicago Herald of Wednesday contained the following editorial, which is referred to the propaganda headquarters of the liquor interests in Cincinnati:

"The prisoner before an American court martial in France charged with a criminal assault on a young French girl and murder pleaded that, 'being under the influence of liquor, he did not know what he was doing.'"

"Nevertheless Private Cadue was hanged. He was not given the poor consolation of a firing squad. He executed his offense by undergoing the growing degradation of the soldier—death on the gallows."

"There are thousands of other young Americans who may soon be beneath the flag of France who are frequent visitors to Chicago. To one whose work takes him on the streets at night it is too plain that somewhere and somehow a number of these boys are being furnished with liquor."

"Do the scoundrels who are responsible for this nefarious traffic realize what they are doing in thus violating the law?"

"Probably not. Their sole concern is the paltry nickels and dimes they can make. Unfortunately the law does not protect them and cannot be expected to protect a punishment sufficiently heavy as those who furnish out young soldiers and sailors with the poison from

BURLEY BRINGS DOUBLE PRICE

At Opening Sale of Breckinridge Loose Leaf House Is Record Breaker. Second Sale, December 15.

The opening sale of the Breckinridge Loose Leaf House, at Hardinsburg last Saturday, was a record breaker. Prices went far beyond the expectation of the sellers and the average prices for Dark and Burley were more than double last year's prices. This means to the farmer from two to three hundred per acre and in some cases four to five hundred dollars per acre. And when you take into consideration the size of the crop, it means that the farmer is now getting his just reward for his labor which has not been the case in the life of many farmers who are selling the present crop.

It means too that good prices will be with them for many years to come. It means further that Loose Leaf sales are popular and the farmer gets his full value for his crop.

The next sale is Saturday, December 15, and the farmers who have not sold their crops are advised to put it on this sale. Even higher prices than last sale are predicted.

when murder is distilled. Hanging is too good for them. They should be given nothing to drink other than the stuff they sell.—Owensboro Messenger.

From Mr. and Mrs. LaHeist.

The Breckinridge News is in receipt of a letter from Mrs. A. A. LaHeist of Denver, in regard to the paper, as Mr. and Mrs. LaHeist are originally from Cloverport and have friends who will be interested in hearing from them the letter in part is published below:

"Mr. LaHeist is much improved in health and has now worked for the first time since July. My health is perfect, I am never sick. We are having beautiful weather, this certainly is a grand climate. While I would love to see my dear friends in Kentucky, I don't think I could ever be contented any place but Colorado."

"Mr. LaHeist had a nice long letter from Mr. J. F. Mathee, who was in the photograph work with him for several years in Cloverport. He is a widower and has a daughter who is teaching in the high school in Fowler, Colo., and he is with her."

"Remember us kindly to your own family and to all friends. Hoping to receive my paper soon."

We remain your friends,
Mr. and Mrs. A. A. LaHeist,

DRURY'S SALE MARKED SUCCESS

Enthusiastic Buyers Make the Sales Easy. Pigs Bring $40 and $50. List of Purchasers.

C. H. Drury's sale of thoroughbred Durocks, at his farm last Friday, was a splendid success. It shows how farmers are going after the hog if he has a record.

When pigs sell from $40 to $50 a piece and buyers eager to get them, it is a sign that our farmers and stock raisers are getting in line for high-class and thoroughbred animals.

Mr. Drury's pigs were in fine shape and showed their breeding and their carcasses. He is doing his best to help his neighbor farmers to produce stock that pays and sells on sight.

Following are names of purchasers: G. N. Lyddan, 6 bred Duroc Jersey gilts for $233, and one pair aged sows for $380; B. S. Wilson, 1 bred gilt for $42; H. H. Norton, of Webster, 1 bred gilt $50; F. J. Cooper, Ekron, 1 bred gilt $50, and one bred sow $56.50; Geo. Jarred, Irvington, 1 bred gilt, $50.50; 1 pure bred, 6 months old Hereford bull went to Hon. W. A. Stith, Guston, for $56.50. This bull on any other market would have brought $100. J. B. Herndon, one saddle mare for $60; Hon. W. A. Stith, one saddle mare, $51; B. S. Wilson, one pair mule colts, $16.

Dies at Age of Ninety-Five.

Garfield, Ky., Dec. 12, (Special)—On Wednesday morning Dec. 5, at 11 o'clock the angel of death entered the home of Mrs. Mary A. Priest and took from her her mother, Mrs. Betsy Compton one of the oldest citizens of this place.

She was ninety-five years of age. Aunt Betsy was born and reared on a farm near town. She professed faith in Christ at the age of eighteen years, at Old Lost Run church and lived a consistent Christian life until her death.

She is survived by the following children, Mesdames Mary A. Priest and John Frank. Nani Compton, Isiah Compton, George Compton and Will Taylor Compton.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. M. P. Compton at the residence Thursday at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in the presence of a large number of friends, after which she was laid to rest in the Garfield cemetery.

News of Local Business Concerns.

The Thrift Stamps and war saving certificates have been received at the local Post Office. So far the Postmaster has only had the pleasure of selling two probably due to the fact that people have not been informed of their arrival.

Owing to the scarcity of coal, the Cloverport Light Company have had to be sparing with the "juice." Day current will be cut off for a while until the coal situation is relieved, which is hoped by the patrons will not be long.

Carter Bros. started baking their first bread under Government license, Monday morning.

Mr. Carter says the only difference is in the amount of sugar, which is less than used before. The Hooverized loaves weigh, look and taste practically the same.

Santa Claus will have headquarters this year at the Golden Rule Store and J. C. Nolte & Bro. Both stores have taken on the Christmas air and are offering quite a few attractive novelties.

Perhaps the only thing there is a scarcity in, on account of the war, is the dolls. Dolls have been exceeding hard to get and there are fewer this year than ever known before, most of which are made in America.

Edward Clark

Confined to His Home.

Edward Clark, the exceptionally bright young son of Dr. F. T. Clark and Mrs. Clark, is confined to his bed on account of accident received last Monday while he was helping to unload a wagon full of groceries on to the boarding car of the Texas work train, he slipped and fell between the wagon and car, breaking several of the leg bones in one of his limbs which will keep him home bound for several weeks.

Young Mr. Clark was employed in the grocery department of J. C. Nolte & Bro.'s store, and with his genial disposition and courtesy, he has won a number of friends who have missed him from his post of duty.

Spend the Winter in Florida.

Mrs. L. B. Moremen and Mrs. Kate Bennett of Irvington left last week for Florida where they will spend the winter.

Enroute South they will stop at Mcon, Ga., to visit Dr. L. B. Moremen who is stationed at the base hospital, Camp Wheeler.

PARALYSIS

PROVES FATAL

To Mr. G. W. Payne—Passed Away Dec. 4—Burial at Stephensport—Native of Breckinridge County.

On Tuesday night, December 4, at 10:30 o'clock, Mr. George W. Payne, a resident of this city and formerly of Stephensport who was stricken two weeks ago with the third stroke of paralysis, was kindly released from his intense suffering and passed into the great beyond.

The funeral service was held Wednesday evening at 8:15 from the residence by Rev. A. N. Couch. Thursday morning the remains were taken to Stephensport and interred in the Hill Cemetery. Services at the grave were in charge of the Masons.

Although he was not strong, Mr. Payne had recovered from the previous strokes of paralysis, sufficiently to enable him to get around. He made a visit to his former home just a short while back Nov. 16 and attended a Masonic celebration there that night. He remained over until the next day when he was stricken and had to be brought home on a cot, since then his condition was considered critical and the end was momentarily expected by his family, consisting of his wife and daughter, Miss Esther Payne and one son Gordon Payne. Besides these he leaves two sisters, Mrs. Nannie Atkinson of Hardinsburg and Mrs. Alice Bandy of Irvington, four brothers, S. R. Payne of Paducah, Franklin Payne Nick Payne of Webster and Robert Payne of Irvington.

Mr. Payne was seventy-one years old. He was born reared and spent his entire life in Breckinridge county. Clinton Mills, being the place of his birth. His parents were the late James Payne and Mrs. Christiania Dowell Payne of Webster.

The day before his death, was the twenty-seventh wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Payne, who before her marriage was Miss Nancy Dowell.

Mr. Payne started his first business career forty years ago in Stephensport when he bought and sold tobacco, later on he with his brother, S. P. Payne, formed a partnership and carried on quite successful general mercantile store in that city until a few years ago when it was destroyed by fire.

Mr. Payne united with the Stephensport Baptist church in his youth and after coming to Cloverport in April, 1915, he with his family became members of the Baptist church here. It can be truly said of him that he was a conscientious man in business dealings, a devoted father and husband and a faithful Christian.

Those from here who accompanied the family to Stephensport Thursday and attended the burial were: Mrs. Joe Sawyer, Mrs. Frank Perry, Mrs. L. V. Chapin, Mrs. Graham Jolly, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Payne, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McKaughan and children, D. H. Severs, R. L. Oelze, Shelby Conrad, R. T. Polk, O. T. Skillman and Wilbur Chapin.

Honorable Discharge.

Floyd Hinton, of the 136th Infantry, Camp Zachary Taylor, has been given an honorable discharge and returned home on account of his health.

So far as it is known, this is the first of the Breckinridge county boys to be discharged. Mr. Hinton was able to pass the physical examination all right but his strength was not sufficient to withstand the severe military regulations.

Xmas Mail Reaches Front.

With the American Army in France, Dec. 4.—Christmas mail for the troops began arriving to day in the American zone. In one town alone a thousand sacks were delivered. The contents of most of them consisted of packages of various sizes. Some of the packages had written on them "Open at Christmas" and similar inscriptions.

The American postoffices have made every plan to keep the mails moving from them to the positions where the addressed are quartered.

SAVING MORE MEN, COAL AND LOCOMOTIVES

"Reports just compiled show that in the beginning of the war the railroads in the fifteen states of the Central Military Department have made reductions in passenger service aggregating 10,657,636.96 train miles per annum."

By thus decreasing their passenger service the railroads in this territory have effected a saving per annum of 1,176,085 tons of coal, 369 locomotives, 1,941 men and 203,839 barrels of oil.

"The reductions in passenger service which have been made by all the railroads in the United States amount to over 15,000,000 train miles per year" said R. H. Ashton, Chairman of the Central Department Committee of the Railroads' War Board. "These reductions are made solely to enable the railroads to handle the freight service deemed more necessary for the country's welfare, with the one great object of winning the war."

"Because of different conditions prevailing it was not necessary to make as extensive reductions in passenger train service in Western as in Eastern territory. Passenger traffic never was so heavy as it is now and the service must be maintained to the fullest extent possible. However, should war conditions create an emergency requiring further reductions in passenger service we are fully confident that the American public will cheerfully co-operate in our aim to do what is best for the nation."

$1,000,000 For Syrian

And American Relief.

The Sunday schools people of America are waging a campaign at present to raise one million dollars for the destitute Syrians, Americans and other Christian people in the Turkish Empire. All of the expenses of the campaign to raise this fund are being paid by interested men and by workers and associations giving their time to the cause so that every dollar given for this work will go directly to the sufferers.

The Kentucky Sunday schools who have failed to receive their Denominational communications on this subject and if they desire to have a part in, they can report to the American and Syrian Relief, Metropolitan Tower, New York City for further instructions.

Money or Position

Doesn't Count.

A son of a wealthy Fifth Avenue family was about to leave for war. He was saying good-by to his mother when a noise in the kitchen attracted their attention.

The mother said: "Jack, that hired girl has got some one in the kitchen again. Go order him out."

Jack departed for the kitchen, but soon returned and said: "Sorry mother but I can't turn him out."

"Can't turn him out?" said his mother. "Why can't you turn him out?"

"Because, dear mother, he's my sergeant."

TO THE DELINQUENT TAX-PAYERS!

See us before the 15th of December. We positively cannot correct any errors in your Tax Lists, either Property or Dogs, after that date. By your failing to pay your Taxes before December the 1st, 1917, we were compelled to borrow money to make our settlement with the State. We are aware of the fact that it was a hardship for some of you to pay, and with that fact before us, we have decided to give you until SATURDAY, DECEMBER THE 15th, 1917, to settle all of your Taxes that are due.

We do this of our own choice, but at the same time we are compelled to pay a penalty on all taxes that are not collected by us on December the 1st, 1917. This is our last year to collect taxes, and we must close up our books. We do not want to be severe with any one and have given all due notice, and now as a last warning we are compelled to state that we have to close our books, and all old taxes not paid to us by January the 1st, 1918, the same will have to be forced by us, so make your arrangements to settle with us and don't compel us to force payment. We have not advertised a single person during the whole of our term of office, but unless you come forward and pay us we will be compelled to do so.

Troops of American Expeditionary Force in French Camps On Last Leg of Journey to the Firing Line

It is mess time in a camp "somewhere in France" where the American expeditionary force is stationed. Also it is near the fighting lines; how near no one is privileged to tell. Suffice it to say that in this place Gen. Pershing's men are undergoing the finishing training which will prepare them for the rigors of trench warfare during the winter, now almost at hand. The soldiers are at drill. When they return it is very likely that they will be able to eat tacks. But the food to be served is of the best and there is plenty of it. Note the camouflaged tent at the right and the long mess-tent behind the field stores. The picture is a peaceful one as shown here, and in this environment Thanksgiving was spent by many of the men.

This Pig A Real Patriot.

Pigs are pigs everywhere, but when they are bred in old Kentucky they mean something more than that. Commuters passing through Barclay street yesterday stopped to admire in front of a wholesale commission dealer's store the handiwork of a pig that tried to do his duty to win the war for America.
 The pig reached a weight of 452½ pounds, an I William Dunphy of Lexington, who urged the pig to do his best to feed a regiment of Uncle Sam's soldiers, decided that even a pig could do no more for his country than 452½.

Anklets Among Freak Fashions For Winter

Anklets? Yes, they are interesting—at times. But they are not always warm—in winter. Quite true. And just that has inspired some genius to "invent" anklets. Oh, everybody knows about wristlets, but the anklet is quite an innovation in the season's freakish modes. They're designed as substitutes for spats, so to speak, and they may be called into popularity by the leaders of freak fashion in New York. They are made of almost any cloth, and some are sewing them to the stockings. When the North begins to blow, they will have their first innings. Some wit has suggested that in summer they may be of great assistance in keeping the mosquitoes away.

Many "diving venues" have risen to popularity through the stage, but there are comparatively few who have been contented to remain amateurs. Miss Helen Pennypacker, of Philadelphia, however, is one of the exceptions. The picture shows Miss Pennypacker ready to make one of her famous plunges.

Rumor has it that it is only rumor just now, that the intrepid General John J. Pershing, commander of the American forces in Europe has permitted himself to become enamored in Cupid's snare. Patton, a prominent lawyer in California, long a friend of the Pershings. A dinner was given in General Pershing's honor by Mr. Patton and his daughter in Washington, where they came to bid him farewell. Lieut. Don't forget that your horse works much harder than you do, and treat him accordingly.

Don't forget on the cold stormy days that he is doing his very best to pull your heavy loads over the snowy, icy streets. Make it as easy for him as you can.

Don't forget that he's a loyal, willing friend who is helping you earn your wage! Treat him as such.

Don't overload your team! Take all the short cuts you can see that your horse is properly shod and warily covered!

Be good to your horse he deserves it!—Our Dumb Animals.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The President in his momentous message to Congress, Tuesday, December 4, acted as spokesman for the American people, hence every possible means of communication were used in order to herald his words to all the nations in order that they might know the true meaning and purpose of America's part in the great conflict.

This message, if not already—should be read in every American home. Few President's messages have ever surpassed it in the matter of eloquence. Our President is endowed with an enviable intellect, he is so thoroughly broad minded, practical and has the highest ideals for the people of whom he is the chief executive.

One of the striking points in his message, aside from the proposal of declaring a state of war on Austro-Hungary, was when the President spoke of the attitude of the American people toward Germany. He stated that America was not in the war for revenge. It was not her purpose to stoop to the lowest depths and inflict Germany in the same manner which she has inflicted America and her allies. But instead, we believe America has been moved by righteous indignation and she intends to right all wrongs which the common enemy has imposed on other nations then we desire peace without annexation and as the President said at the conclusion of his message, "The cause being just and holy, the settlement must be of like motive and quality. For this we can fight, but for nothing less noble or less worthy of our traditions. For this cause we entered the war and for this cause we battle until the last gun is fired."

Recently we were invited to attend a gathering of young people in our town and during the course of the evening they were asked to sing the Star Spangled Banner—we were glad there were not many outsiders present for the response was pitiful. The idea seems to prevail that the National hymn is difficult consequently America is substituted on most all occasions. We admit the Star Spangled Banner is not quite as "catchy" as America nevertheless it should be sung oftener and we are at a loss to know why the children in our public school are not being taught to sing the National hymn.

At the National Headquarters of the American Red Cross Society, their paid officers number 423; three of these receive the highest salary of $5,000 to $7,500 yearly which is the same paid during peace times; eighty-five are paid less than $600 a year, and sixty-three officials serve without any cost whatsoever. Since America entered the war 348 officers had to be added and they receive a salary of $2,000 a year. It is worthy to note that we have some folks in the world who are not working solely for the almighty dollar.

It is almost disgusting to hear of the "high brows" at the Nation's Capitol, criticising the President's message and picking it to pieces. We greatly wonder if they could do any better. How much more becoming it would be if they would look for the good in it and abide by that, to say nothing of what would seem their patriotic duty. The most ignorant persons are oftentimes the severest critics, but it takes the wisdom of Solomon to always be able to grasp the good in things.

We notice that New York City is in the lead in sending surgeons, physicians and Red Cross nurses for service with the American base hospitals in France. It might be expected that New York would be in the lead but some of our large cities have furnished only a very few physicians and surgeons, according to the large number they have who could go—our own metropolis of Kentucky has fallen short in this line of service.

One writer has suggested that while we are remembering the soldier boys who are in training and those in service, why not remember the Red Cross nurses? And we heartily agree with him. These girls have left all that is near and dear to them and some are even facing as much danger as the boys in the trenches. They are serving us equally as much as the boys, so let's remember them with a Christmas box.

We have already received subscriptions to the Breckenridge News which will be sent as Christmas presents. We want to remind you that you have ten days left to place your order for a subscription to be sent that soldier boy of yours who will enjoy seeing his home paper. Shop late if you haven't shopped early!

Evidently our Mayor has not seen fit to use snow shovels on the sidewalks or the roads. It is cruel to animals to make the horses plow through the deep snow with their heavy loads.

Ambassador Gerald says the sum and substance of the President's message is "Beat Germany first and talk afterward."

Beginning Monday, December 10, all bakers bread from now on will be made under Government license.

We can sympathize with the Louisvillians on the shortage of gas during the cold weather.

At least the coal man is happy this kind of weather, if the rest of us are not.

The latest thing to conserve is your old tin cans. What next?

FARM AND STOCK.

Last week was the banner tobacco week in this county. The weed was in fine order for handling and the growers took advantage of it. All receiving points in the county were busy and the farmers carried home more money than they have for many years.

The crop for next year will be the largest ever. Dealers are already contracting for Burley at $20 from the ground up.

Jess Burger's sale, near Guston last week, sheep sold from $13 to $20 50 per head; 22 shoats brought $300; stripper cows $67 to $85; mules $80 to $150; horses $80 to $125; straw $12 50, and hay $28 per ton; cultivators $20 to $35. The sale was around $4,000. D. W. Henry was the auctioneer.

Owen and Gilbert Kasey, of Irvington, route 1, sold 4,000 pounds of Burley at $25 round. H. W. Gross 4,000 at $27. A. F. Sipes sold 11,000 hills for $93. R. C. Brown 2,700 pounds at $20, half acre of this crop yielded 1,001 pounds and brought him over $200.

Clarence Dooley, of Big Spring, delivered one load of tobacco that brought him $596.

John Cook, who started buying tobacco in the patch and at prices that everybody thought extravagant and hazardous, is still hungry for the weed. Saturday he capped the climax by paying $35 from the ground up for Park Wright's crop of 3,000 pounds of Burley. John is a good buyer but a bad seller according to his way of figuring. Says he lost just $15,000 by selling his purchase too early. He is still about that much to the good and is not kicking.

J. S. Slith, brother of the Hon. W. A. Slith, sold his farm of 222 acres in Meade county to E. E. Hardaway for $3,800. Mr. Slith has bought a farm of 130 acres in Bullitt county for $8,450 where he will move.

K. L. Carman sold 7,000 pounds of Burley at $26.50. S. C. Dowell sold 1 1/2 acres or 5,500 hills for $522, the price being $95 50 round.

Compton Brothers at Bewleyville, are remodeling their store house by putting in an up-to-date glass front, enlarging, painting and papering the inside. This is made necessary by their large and increasing business.

The hog shortage on Farms September 1, according to reports by United States Department of Agriculture was 5,497,000 and the corn increase was 607,442,000 as compared with the 1916 crop. It is now up to the hog raisers to fill up this gap by raising more hogs. The Department urges that sows be bred in increased numbers to insure the needed number of pigs next spring to eat the surplus of the 1917 crop.

The Food Administration has fixed a minimum price of $15.50 a hundred pounds for the average, so that the farmer can count on getting for each 100 pounds of hogs ready for market thirteen times the average cost per bushel of corn fed into the hogs.

An International Champion steer, Merry Monarch, owned by Purdue University, grand champion steer of the National Livestock Show this year, was sold for $2.05 a pound to the American Short Horn Breeders' Association Thursday. The association donated the animal, which weighed 1,610 pounds to the American Red Cross, which resold it to Armour & Company for $3,381, or $2.10 a pound, a record price. Last year the champion steer, California Favorite, sold for $1.75 a pound.

The grand champion carload of Angus cattle owned by E. T. Hall, of Mechanicsburg, Ill., went to Armour & Company for $12.50 a hundred pounds, a record price. Last year the price for the prize carload was $28 a hundred pounds.

The date for Farmers' Week in Kentucky are January 20th to February 1st. About two thousand Kentucky farmers and live stock breeders are expected to attend the conventions held during Farmers' Week at the College of Agriculture at Lexington, Ky. A number of prominent men will give talks, among them being Dr. G. C. Greelman, of Ontario, who will speak on Canada's part in the war, touching upon farm labor and farm production problems.

The cold weather, snow and delayed trains has cut this column of its usual farm news. We wish farmers would send us items for this column. It will help to make it useful and entertaining. People like to hear from the farmer and his doings. No class of citizens are more in the limelight just now.—J. D. B.

MULE MISSED HER TOBACCO

Temperamental Mountain Canary Not Blamed for Planting Hoofs in Back of Her Only Friend.

Thinking the animal made a mistake in not knowing whom she was kicking or it was his fault because he forgot to give her the usual chew of tobacco, Fred Wales of Grass Valley, Cal., who carried his arm in a sling for some time as the result of a kick from Bessie, excuses his partner of fourteen years for injuring him.

The mule is known to every employee of the mine, 450 in all, and while there is no affection for her among 440 of them, they all have a wholesome respect for her in spite of her contrary disposition. It is a mine classic that she kicks the airpipe two feet above her for exercise.

With Fred Wales, however, it is different. He has worked with Bessie for fourteen years and has become attached to the animal. He excuses her vagaries as an indulgent mother condones the actions of a spoiled child.

It is merely a matter of temperament, he says, and the other men do not understand her. His faith was shaken temporarily, but not for long.

In the physician's office he took offense at a suggestion that the mule should be killed on account of her viciousness and rushed to her defense.

"It was perhaps my fault; it certainly was not hers. Bessie either did not know who it was when she kicked or I had forgotten to give her the usual chew of tobacco. I am willing to take all the blame."

PULLED THEIR COLLARS OFF

If Paris Women Were Too Large a Neck Piece Other Women Forcibly Removed Them.

In Paris, at one time, the people dropped their extravagance, and "if a woman ventured to wear too large a collar, the other women would pull it off." Henry VIII—as he did with everything he set his mind to—interfered with the dress of his subjects to some purpose and brought forward an act against wearing costly apparel.

A few years later the law became more stringent still. Philip and Mary compelled attention not only by fines, but went so far as to send offenders to prison. Elizabeth saw that the people were reckless with their money, and caused an act to be passed which declared that anyone who sold foreign apparel to persons having less than $3,000 a year in land or fees, except for ready money, should forfeit every penny of the price.

Ladies wore hoods, hats and caps of every conceivable shape. They were careful as to their hair, and they had a fine assortment of wigs at hand. Elizabeth herself sometimes wore red hair, and then reverted to black for a change. It so happened that trade in the cap line fell off considerably because caps went out of fashion.

OHIO GIRL REAL WAR BRIDE

Wedded to Trooper of Rainbow Division at Mineola, N. Y., Before 800 Soldiers.

Mineola, N. Y.—A real wartime wedding was solemnized at the camp of the rainbow division when Sergt. Walter Valentine of the 108th Infantry, formerly the Fourth Ohio, was married to Miss Mary Winter of Delaware, Ohio, at an outdoor altar by Chaplain Duffy of the 165th Infantry. Sergeant Valentine and Miss Winter marched across the field, escorted by 800 soldiers of the Ohio regiment. The troops also escorted them to their automobile when they left camp on an 18-hour wedding trip.

U. S. Takes Farmers' Spuds at $5 a Barrel.

Farmers near Camp Mills, L. I., who have been figuring on holding their last summer's crops of potatoes for a large price have received a very decided shock in the experience of one of their neighbors, William Jones, of Unadilla, who had a barn full of potatoes which he was hoping to sell for $10 a barrel.

Yesterday afternoon an officer from the United States Commissary Department of the camp went to the farm and asked the farmer if he had potatoes to sell. He said he had but would give no quotation, as he was holding them for a high price later on. The officer then told him they were all sold, at $5 a barrel, and for him not to touch them. Other farmers are in a panic.

Several woodyard owners were given a jolt also when their supply of cord wood, for which they had been hoping to receive $15 and $16 a cord, was commandeered and they will receive what the Government thinks is a fair price for it.—New York Sun.

Interesting Account of One of Hardin County's Successful Farmers.

Editor of The Breckenridge News:
Dear Sir: A visit to J. Henry Ditto at Vine Grove, Ky., was one of great pleasure and interest last week.

Mr. Ditto and son, Stanley, are feeding 150 head of cattle. They began in October and expect to finish in January after 100 days feeding. These men are among the successful silo feeders. They believe in silage feeding, it puts from 3 to 4 pounds a day on their cattle. They build their own silos—use double flooring on walls and wooden hoops of four layers 5/8x4. One silo has been in use for eighteen years and they have never spent a cent on it for repairs and have never lost any silage.

From experience, they have learned the proper stage to cut in their corn. Not only do they make a fine beef, but they make quantities of manure and this alone practically pays the expense of feeding or a profit. The heavier and better the corn, the better the silage. A strange thing is, that an inexperienced person does not know that the cattle will eat up all the heavy stalk of the corn before they will the blades, shuck and tassel.

These men lose practically nothing in their silage. Their success in feeding is their manner of feeding and watching their cattle's digestion and appetites. One man feeds at a barn and takes about two hours in feeding. Feeds around and gives them time to clean this up pretty well and then he gives them another until the cattle have had enough and begin to back off from the troughs.

The cattle they are feeding averaged 900 to 1000 pounds when put up, and expects when finished to turn them out 1,200 to 1,400 pounds. All except one load already sold at 11 cents. So there will be some cheque coming—fully $15,000 or more.

This was not all I saw or had. I had three days of fine bird hunting, an old-fashioned wood fire and some sure enough country eats of old ham and other good things. Jno. T. Ditto.

OHIO RIVER

FROZEN OVER.

At This Point and for Several Miles Below. Bales of Hay are Embarked for a Half Mile. River Traffic Suspended.

The Ohio River at this point and as far down as Rock Island which is this side of Hawesville, and as far up the river as can be seen, is completely frozen over. The river men predict that by Wednesday, the ice will be hard enough to walk across. Not since 1907 has it been cold enough for the river to freeze over.

The Cloverport Ferry Company was able to run its ferry boat Monday but since Monday evening all river traffic has been suspended. For the first time in four years, Mr. Wood Weatherholt the mail carrier has failed to get across with the mail from Tobinsport to Cloverport.

A peculiar sight near the warf boat landing is to see about 140 bales of hay which are engulfed in the ice for a half mile down the river. It is thought a tow boat or barge sunk and while the bales were floating the ice packed around them and they have all become blockaded here.

It is predicted that the river will freeze over at Evansville by Wednesday morning. Ice gorges are reported in the Ohio at several points.

The social which was to have been given Saturday evening by the members of the Lucile Memorial Presbyterian church has been set for Saturday evening Dec. 17.

Rev. R. E. Reeves will fill his regular appointment at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning and evening.

Contributed by a Huntsman.

Muffett is a hunter bold,
He's an excellent guide, so I've been told.
He'll take you through all the green briar patches
Get you sore with gouges and scratches
As to being a guide he's simply fine
But killing game? that's not his line.
Some hunters go out with guns that pump
Others have the automatic stunt
Muffett's gun was made in forty nine,
For making a racket its simply fine
But killing game? that's not in its line.
He borrowed a hunters Beagle hound
To run some little bunnies around
This poor hound a thousand miles did run,
And Muffett shot with his ancient gun
But on rabbit that evening he failed to dine.
For killing game? that's not in his line.

More Fertilizer For Farms To Be Moved.

'Fertilizer isn't usually recognized as a factor in war, but it may be, never the less said Chairman R. H. Ashton of the Central Department of the Railroads' War Board.

"When Napoleon said 'an army travels on its stomach' he meant men could not fight without food. While this war last not only our own fighting men but those of our allies are looking to this country for part of all their food supplies. So is the civilian population of this and our allied countries.

Therefore this country must produce more food than ever before. Not only must we plant a larger acreage but we should aim to increase the average yield per acre. This means the use of more fertilizer, lots more of it.

In realization of this very important fact, notice has been sent to every railroad in the United States to make every portation of fertilizer and for the ingredients of manufactured fertilizer, such as phosphate rock, ground limestone, potash, gypsum, certain acids and other commodities. Fertilizer shipments are now moving and will become very active about Jan. 1, and continue heavy for three or four months.

Christmas Number.

Wednesday, Dec. 19, will be the Christmas number of the Breckenridge News. One of the interesting features of this number will be the editorial article entitled, "Is there a Santa Clause?" which was written by the Editor of the New York Sun, twenty years ago. This story has probably had more publicity than any one story ever written. It has been published and republished in various magazines and newspapers all over the country because the public has never grown tired of it. Don't fail to read it.

Was Equal to the Emergency.

It was in a Sunday school on the East side of New York that a new interpretation of Moses' flight from Egypt into the Promised Land was given. The exponent of the old, old story had told of Moses' leadership and of the attempt of the Egyptians to wrest back their slaves from the fast-moving Moses. "But wasn't it wrong for him to take away the Israelites from the Egyptians," asked one little fellow, "when they was under contract to work for them?" The speaker snv he must temporize. This was a community where unions thrived, and the sacredness of one's bond mustn't be attacked. "Oh, that was all right," he explained. "Moses gave them a check on the bank of the Red sea."

Most Popular War Cry.

The most popular war cry is "Hurrah!" an exclamation of indefinite origin. It is found in various forms in Swedish and Danish (hurra), German (hurrah), French (hura), Russian (ura). Some connect it with such words as "hurry," "whirl," the meaning would then be "haste," to encourage speed or onset in battle. The Russian soldiers adopted "hurrah" in the War of Liberation (1812-13), and since then it has become a favorite battle cry all over Europe. It seems, however, that the word is pure Slavonian, for it is commonly heard from the coast of Dalmatia to Behring strait, where any of the Slavic population within the limits are called on to give proof of courage and valor.

Notes From the Colored School.

Below is given an account of an entertainment given at the Cloverport Colored School Friday evening, December 8. The article was written by the principal, Silas Dean, who explains in his own words some of the progress that is being made among the colored people in this vicinity.

The exercises at the colored school was well attended in spite of the snow and blowing. Both rooms were crowded with the children and patrons.

There were two principal features of the entertainment. The physical exercises by the primary department under the direction of Mrs. Slaughter, the assistant teacher, may be considered a piece of art, and was highly enjoyed by all.

The autumn drill by the eight, seventh and sixth grades in charge of Miss Labell Johnson, of the students of the eighth grade, was considered a master piece of work.

The thinking people of the town are seeing the benefits of a well trained mind and are giving their influence in that direction.

After the regular program the audience was moved by the interesting lecture given by Rev. Kellogg, subject, "Color Does Not Bar the Man or Woman." The facts were presented in such a way that it will leave a lasting impression on all that were present.

It seems now that the teachers are at their best and a great work along educational lines is being done.

After the program refreshments were served and a nice sum of money was realized which will be used in general work of the school.

The teachers and best people are working together to lower the standard of vice, ignorance and other things that is a hindrance to any race of people.

'Over There' Americans Learn to Shoot Tromblon or Grenade Gun Under the Instruction of French Officers

There are few phases of warfare that the American forces, now in France under General Pershing, have not experienced, at least in training. Here are some of the men, who have gone "over there" to fight to make the world safe for democracy, in a practice trench learning the use of the grenade gun or tromblon as it is known to the French. The trench is near a camp where American troops are stationed for the present. The tromblon is similar in many respects to a regular rifle, but instead of shooting bullets it is used to fire grenades toward the enemy lines. The guns are mounted on small tripods atop the breastworks of the trench as shown in the picture. French soldiers are seen in the background instructing the Americans. The picture is supplied by the Committee on Public Information, and is one of the latest to come from France.

DRAFTED MEN FOR SIGNAL CORPS

The University of Kentucky Will Likely Train Quota—Thousands of Telegraphers, Etc., Needed.

The University of Kentucky has been requested by the War Department to consider the matter of training a quota of the enrolled draft of the State for service in the Signal Corps of the National Army and the interest of the citizens subject to the next call is especially invited to this proposed course.

The Signal Corps requires the services of thousands of trained men. It is important that they be capable telegraphers. Men who attain proficiency as telegraphers and otherwise qualify for service in this branch of the army are certain of rapid promotion as the number of officers and noncommissioned officers is large in proportion to the total. High-class men are desired because the work is confidential and largely dependent upon individual effort. This service is responsible for the transmission of information and is a most important factor in successful movements in the field.

The intention of the course is to train citizens of the State who are enrolled for the draft for higher positions than they will attain without such efforts, and also to furnish its fair share of the large number required in this branch of the service. Upon receiving a certificate of proficiency he is entitled when duly called to enrollment in the Signal Corps and to assignment to that branch of the service. The work affords good training and experience that will be of value after return to civil life.

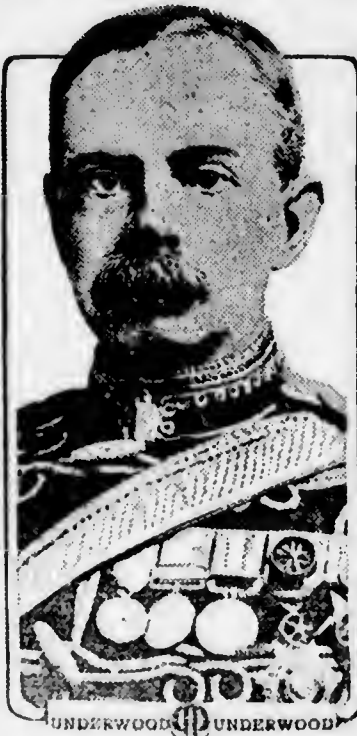

Lieut. Colonel J. D. Wildman, Department Signal Officer, writes as follows about our proposed course: "This will be of wonderful advantage to the men of your State who receive the

Hero of Ypres at Head of British Forces in Italy

The British are already lending a hand to Italy in her hour of need. A great force of picked men are already near the fighting lines. General Herbert C. O. Plumer, G.C.M.G., K.C.B., is in command of the British troops in Italy to co-operate with General Diaz, the Italian commander-in-chief, who has halted the advance of the Austro-Germans. General Plumer was in command of the British at Ypres in June when the Teuton trenches were blown up for nine miles as the British went to an attack which resulted in a splendid victory.

course, as it will place them in line for earlier promotion, besides being of assistance to the army by preparing the men to such a high degree."

Any college work is an advantage to a progressive young man. The work in radio electric engineering is not only very interesting but very instructive, including elements of electrical engineering, telegraphy, alternating current generators, telephony and radio instruments and apparatus.

Class room work in Military French will be offered, every effort will be made to maintain a high standard of instruction. Apt students will not be held back by the inability of others. Enrollment will not affect the regular operation of the draft. Certificates of proficiency insure placement in the Signal Corps.

In conclusion the call is for worthy young men, who are entitled when called and properly trained to assignment to important and responsible duties. For further information write to Captain H. N. Royden, Commandant, University of Kentucky, Lexington, who is charged with the direction of the Class.

HOOSIER SENDS FIRST U. S. SHOT INTO GERMANY

South Bend Man Is Hero of Initial Action by the Americans.

GEORGIAN GIVES THE ORDER

Indiana Sergeant Pulls the Lanyard Which Starts Pershing's Attack on the Kaiser's Armies—Americans All Eager for Action.

American Field Headquarters in France.—Indiana and Georgia divide the honor of having inaugurated America's land warfare against the Germans.

A sergeant from South Bend, Ind., pulled the lanyard to send the first shell tearing across the valley in the direction of the German positions. A Georgia lieutenant gave the order "fire!"

The facts were established during the first visit paid by a correspondent to the first American battle front.

The correspondent reached the American position after a long motor ride through shell-battered towns. Leaving the motor in one of the towns, he walked the rest of the way.

The first American battery was almost walked upon before it was discovered. It was so well hidden under the trees and with foliage about it on a low-hung wire netting.

Gun of .75 Caliber Used.

Through the foliage in every direction the ground was undulating. At that moment there was a flash of flame through the mist. It was the crack of a .75 gun, and following it closely came the noise of the shell rushing through the air, becoming fainter and fainter as the projectile went on its way to the German position over the crest of a hill farther away. The muddying artillerymen continued their work without even looking up.

A lieutenant from Georgia emerged. He was the officer who directed the first shot. He led the way down the slippery, muddy hill to a dugout covered over with sandbags and logs. There was met a lieutenant from Indiana of the same battery who directed the first 18 shots of the war against Germany from an observation point.

On the other side of the hill was found the first gun fired. The muddy gunners were hard at work cleaning their gun.

"This was the first gun fired in the war," the jaunty lieutenant said. "The sergeant inside the pit there fired it."

Looking into the pit, the lieutenant said: "Sergeant, where are you from?"

He's from South Bend.

A husky voice replied: "I'm from South Bend, Ind."

"Are you Irish?" asked the lieutenant.

"No, sir," the sergeant laughingly replied.

At this time orders came for this gun and others of the battery placed in nearby hills in sight and sound of each other to commence firing. The gun on the farthest hill went off with a roar and a faint stream of smoke was blown backward from the pit.

Inside the pit in which the correspondent stood a voice shouted out the range figures and the lieutenant repeated them. A voice inside the pit a moment later yelled that the gunner was ready to fire. The lieutenant gave the command to the gunners: "Watch your bubble."

The lieutenant, who was standing on a pile of mud which had been removed from the pit, cautioned those about him to place their fingers in their ears. This was done and the lieutenant shouted the word "Fire!"

The gun barked quickly, the noise followed by a metallic clank and the shell case was ejected and the gun made ready for the next load. The lieutenant told the correspondent the story of the first shot of the war, punctuating the narrative throughout with the orders "ready to fire," and "fire," which each time was followed by the report of the gun and the whizz of the shell.

"We came up the night before," the lieutenant said, "and got into position in a driving rain. No horses had arrived. I was anxious to get off the first gun and so were my men. I asked them if they were willing to haul the gun by hand to this place so that we could get the first crack at the Germans. They agreed unanimously, so we set out across the fields until we got over there at the base of that hill you can just see in the haze."

Hours to Prepare Gun.

"We had a hard time getting the gun, which we have not named yet, over those shell craters. But we labored for many hours and finally reached the spot. Then I got permission to fire."

"Strictly speaking, the first shot, which was in the nature of a tryout for the gun, simply went into Germany. The sergeant put a high explosive shell there at 6:15 o'clock in the morning."

Another officer here took up the narrative.

"I was in an observation point," he said. "There was a fog as the first shot went singing over. Suddenly the fog lifted and I saw a group of Germans. I directed my gun at them. The shrapnel burst overhead and they took a dive into the ground like so many rabbits."

The lieutenant grinned broadly, shook the water off his shrapnel helmet, and using both clenched fists to punctuate his remarks, said expressively: "It was great."

From the artillery lines to the infantry trenches was a considerable distance over more muddy hills. The correspondent found the infantry inside the trenches. There also were many wires which ran into switchboards, and American and French operators were sitting side by side directing operations.

Bell for Gas Attack.

A guide is necessary to reach the first line, especially when some of the trenches resemble irrigation ditches. The trenches the Americans are occupying begin from a screened position. On the way there shovels and tools were piled high below a hill on which there was a great bell for giving the alarm in case of a gas attack. There under cover were the company cooks busy warming up food that had been brought up in wagons.

Following the guide, the way winds in and out from left to right for many yards between interwoven branches that have been placed on the sides of the trenches.

The American privates in the front splashed through without hesitating, sometimes getting a footing on stepping stones in the muddy water and sometimes not. The trench turns sharply to the right and a voice warns, "Keep your head down," and the rest of the way the walking is difficult. Halting near a machine gun, the German positions directly opposite, on a hill could be seen across the barbed wire of No Man's land. Lights appeared in a little town to the left.

There is a sort of a gentleman's agreement in this sector that towns over the line are not to be shelled. If one side violates the agreement the other side promptly fires shell for shell into a hostile town.

General Sibert, who has just completed a tour of the trenches, was asked how the morale of the Americans in the trenches was. He replied: "Morale? How could the morale of Americans be anything but good?"

STRENGTH OF THE WARRING POWERS

Statistics Show Huge Preponderance in Favor of the Entente.

WORLD HAS A GREAT TASK

To Nullify the Plans of the Kaiser is a Large Order—Strength in Wealth and Man Power of Nations at War Compared.

New York.—The comparative strength of the allies and the central powers is graphically shown by "The Balance Sheet of the Nations at War," which has just been compiled by the Bankers' Trust company.

"The world has a great task still before it in order to nullify the plans of the Hohenzollerns," says the introduction. "The task must not be belittled, but it is at least interesting to see resources existing successfully to accomplish this task, provided that the nations of the world now opposed to Germany continue to co-operate intelligently and loyally until Germany and her allies have been absolutely defeated and their plans of world domination rendered permanently ineffective."

Figures showing, for both sides, the combined area, income and interest charge, and cost of the war in treasure and men, are presented with the explanation that they have been gathered with great care from the "best available sources" and are believed to "reflect with substantial correctness the relative economic strength of the opposing groups of nations," although it is impossible to vouch for their absolute accuracy.

Controlled by Allies.

The allies, including the United States, are shown, by this tabulation, to control 19,526,000 square miles of the earth's surface, or 94.1 per cent of the total area held by the nations at war, as compared with 1,222,000 square miles, or only 5.9 per cent held by the Teutonic combination. The aggregate population of the allies, exclusive of the large Asiatic population tributary to the British empire, reaches the huge total of 473,250,000, or 76.3 per cent of the total of warring peoples, while that of the central powers is but 147,000,000, or 23.7 per cent.

Without counting Asiatics and Africans, the allies have available for military service 91,700,000 men, or 78.5 per cent of the total possible fighting men, while the Teutonic powers can command but 25,050,000, or 21.5 per cent. The number of men actually enrolled in the armies and navies of the allies is 21,400,000, or 66 per cent of the total, while the enrolled military strength of the Teutonic allies is 11,000,000, or 34 per cent, as shown by the following table:

*Figures for these countries especially unreliable.

The combined national wealth of the allies is estimated at $553,000,000,000, or 80.5 per cent of the total of the nations engaged in the present conflict, while the wealth of Germany and her allies is placed at $134,000,000,000, or 19.5 per cent. Contrasted with this is the national debt of the allies, $83,960,000,000, or 14.7 per cent of their aggregate wealth, and the combined debt of the Germans and their allies, $38,500,000,000, which is 28.7 per cent of their aggregate wealth. The figures for the various countries are found in the following table:

The aggregate national income of the allies is placed at $82,100,000,000 and the interest charges each year at $3,591,000,000, which is 4.6 per cent of the income, while the combined income of the Teutonic alliance is estimated to be $16,600,000,000, and interest charges $1,970,000,000, which is 11.8 per cent of the income.

Regarding the cost of the war a table is presented showing that the allies have spent $72,200,000,000, or 64.1 per cent of the total cost of all warring nations, while Germany and her allies have spent $100,500,000,000, or 35.9 per cent.

In killed, wounded and missing the conflict has cost the allies 8,002,956 men, or 58.7 per cent of the total human losses, while it has cost the central powers 6,301,773, or 41.3 per cent of the total of 15,294,729 for last September.

In the introduction to the balance sheet it is pointed out that, while the exact figures are not available, it is a well-known fact that the surplus food producing sections of the world are practically controlled by the entente allies, either directly or through their control of the seas. The same is true, to a great extent, of territories producing metals and coal.

"Japan has not yet been an active factor in the European theater of the war," comments the pamphlet. "It has, however, effectively guarded the Pacific ocean. It has enrolled in its army about 1,500,000 men, out of an effective man power of 10,500,000. The entire army and navy, as well as the unenrolled man power, may be said to be still in reserve."

"While Russia has nominally about 5,000,000 men enrolled in its army and navy, it still has an enormous reserve, as the total number of men available for military purposes aggregates around 30,000,000."

Russian Situation Grave.

"The extreme gravity of the present situation in Russia is, therefore, apparent, especially when it is borne in mind that, if Germany can gain control of Russia or force a separate peace with Russia, even if Russia remained thereafter simply neutral, it would be possible for Germany to draw therefrom an enormous quantity of foodstuffs and the raw material for munitions of war. On the other hand, if Russia can be kept in line with the entente allies, it would seem that the Teutonic allies must be compelled to capitulate, at a reasonably early date, from sheer exhaustion."

"While considering the danger points we must not overlook the fact of the virulence of the Teutonic submarine campaign. It is impossible, however, to present figures in this connection which have statistical value."

"The fact should not be lost sight of that Germany now controls Belgium, northern France, Serbia, Roumania, Montenegro, and a large portion of Poland, having a combined population of about 32,300,000. It is true that men of all these nations are serving in the armies of the entente allies, and that Belgium is maintaining an independent army of moderate size. The control of these countries, especially Belgium and northern France, has

Telephone Courtesy

The people who get the greatest amount of good out of their telephone are those who talk over it as though face to face.

Courtesy smooths out difficulties and promotes the promptest possible connections.

The operators of the BELL System are trained to be patient and polite under all circumstances, but they will do better work if they meet with patience and politeness on the part of the telephone users.

The fact that you cannot see the operator or the other party should not cause you to overlook this. The best results come through the practice of mutual courtesy.

The voice with the smile wins

"No News Is Good News"

Although the failure to receive letters from men in the service is not pleasant to relatives and friends at home the adage "no news is good news" never was more true than at present. The report of every casualty at home or abroad is immediately wired or cabled to officials at Washington, being relayed from there without loss of time to the emergency address of the soldiers or sailors affected. It is also at once released for publication in the newspapers. No news of casualties has or will be held up.
